

Abstract

This invention provides modified biopolymers comprising biopolymers attached to at least one non-proteinaceous
5 catalyst capable of dismutating superoxide in the biological system or precursor ligand thereof. The invention further provides pharmaceutical compositions comprising the modified biopolymer and therapeutic methods comprising administering the modified biopolymer
10 to a subject in need thereof.

NYC 272999v1